

Running Labor-Tracker

Pre-Requisties

- Make sure Docker and Docker-compose is installed in the system and can be called anywhere from the commandline(terminal)
- Make sure Git client is installed in the system to checkout the project from Github

Steps to Run the Labor-Tracker

- Checkout the Labor-Tracker project from Github URL
<https://github.gatech.edu/gt-hit-fall2017/Labor-Tracker>
- Make sure you are on the Master branch and if not switch to the master branch
- Open up the commandline (terminal)
- Run the docker command docker-compose up from the root of the repository
- Allow time for all the application to come up
- Open up a browser
- Visit http://localhost:8080 to access the web application
- Refer to user manual for navigation in the UI