Labor Tracker Special Instructions

In this document, we discuss how to view the Labor Tracker application so that it can be graded. Since the Labor Tracker is a Web application that is deployed publicly, these instructions are very simple.

Getting to the Website

Open up Google Chrome. Other browsers likely work as well, but we targeted chrome during development. Then, direct your browser to the following page: thelabortracker.com. You should then be able to login to the app using Google sign-in (which requires a Google account).

If you have trouble performing any of the functions on the website, then please refer to the Manual.
